Arboretum News

It has been a busy Spring and Summer at Willowwood...Perfect Springtime weather brought Willowwood gorgeous flowering trees including the first flowers from the yellow Magnolias, planted as part of the Magnolia Project.

Then rain and heat and rain again but with the help of our new interns Mandy Connelly, Bronwyn Harris & Stephen Konopka and all our trusty volunteers, the gardens are in good shape. Willowwood was fortunate as well to have the Willow School kids back to help clear trails of Sandy debris and also to have a Young Adult Church group from Michigan weed and mulch on their way to the Jersey shore to help out after Sandy as well as a group of corporate volunteers from Johnson & Johnson, Raritan.

However, John Morse says there are still openings for additional skilled gardeners, volunteers and paid interns (positions now available) throughout the year.

Keeping these splendid gardens looking their best requires many hands. Please pass this information on to anyone you think may be interested. Contact Kate Gutierrez at 973-326-7629 or at kgutierrez@morrisparks.net for info on either the corporate, volunteer or intern programs.

Jeanne Lardino started out as a Horticultural Intern in 2008 after taking a Master Gardener course at FA. In 2010, she was promoted to Seasonal Gardener, and now, three years later, she has been promoted to the full-time position of Assistant Gardener at Willowwood & Bamboo Brook. Jeanne is an organic vegetable gardener and beekeeper and enjoys baking bread and cooking with her pesticide free harvest. Jeanne works in all the gardens at WW and is delighted to be working with our wonderful horticulture team.

VIP Visitors: Dr. Ben Blackburn, horticulturist and adopted son of Henry Tubbs, had quite an extended family in upstate New York. We were delighted to welcome Bill Blackburn, his nephew, who attended the Lilac Party and later sat with MCPC's Becky Hoskins who is putting together oral histories as part of an ongoing project. Bill reminisced about his uncle, the family and their farm in Medina, NY. "when i was younger about 15 yrs old my uncle ben used to come back home to medina ny to visit the family as my dad was his brother , also in the car would be a man mr tubbs i think we called him hal and also russ meyers . as i got older and married i would drive to willowwood to seen ben and russ for hal had pasted on . i remember sleeping in the house with quite high beds, there was a maid and the small stone house had a man with the last name of baldwin and his family had something to do with the piano and he himself was a painter . my dad had four brothers and all went to cornell for a stint and all got married and farmed in medina except for ben . bens dad died in 1970 and is buried here. my dad died ten years ago and he was the youngest and the last to pass . the last time i was at willowwood was when we spread bens ashes on the land there... im glade that my uncle bens place has been kept up as he would have liked ." [sic].

Also visiting this Spring were Russ Hannah and his brother, Stuart, who lived at Bamboo Brook with his father, Herbert, a caretaker and dog handler for Mrs. Martha Brookes Hutcheson (1871-1959, third woman to be named a fellow in the American Society of Landscape Architects), who after her marriage in 1911, landscaped her own garden on their 100-acre farm. Her design was influenced by classical Italian gardens, featuring a pond enclosed by native plants, vegetable garden, flower borders, orchards and farm buildings (now preserved as Bamboo Brook, a Morris County Park.) Stuart, who had worked with his father in the gardens and with the farm animals, toured Bamboo Brook that afternoon perched on a Cushman with Becky Hoskins and Judy Schaible, Assistant Superintendent of Horticulture, comparing then and now. Russ, who after leaving the Army, told of a visit where he met Mrs. Hutcheson, complete with monocle, who gave him career advice. He also recounted his father's stories of a glacial erratic boulder where you can feel seismic activity on the border of Willowwood and Bamboo Brook.

Pamela Wilson, MCPC Plant Records Curator & Propagation Specialist, retired in June after 24+ years. Starting out as a Horticulture Program Specialist at Frelinghuysen, Pam worked on the children's "Branching Out" Program, ran community gardens, wrote Arboretum Leaves, redesigned the Lindner garden and organized the first volunteer garden guides. In 2003 she moved to WW, propagating over 12,000 plants a year with her Monday morning volunteer group and redesigned and planted Pan's Garden. Trips to Iceland and England will fill her Fall & she has lots of plans for the future with her basket weaving classes, her own garden and her husband, Michael. We'll miss her!

Wish List for the Willowwood Arboretum

Help us continue the dreams of Henry and Robert Tubbs by funding a Willowwood initiative at the Arboretum. Seating for our guests, garden fixtures and plantings or additions to the Narcissus & Crocus bulbs (over 14,000 crocus bulbs were browsed by deer this Spring after Sandy) for our meadows or even staff tools and equipment. All are needed to continue Willowwood as the very special treasure it is. Or volunteer a few hours each week in our gardens in the GardenWorks Program.

We need your help! As a fellow gardener or as one who simply treasures our living museum, please contact the Willowwood Foundation at 908-234-1815 or via email wwfoundation@willowwoodfoundation.com to discuss the possibilities.

Go Green! If you would prefer to read this newsletter via email in a pdf version or if you have changed your Mailing address, Please let us know: wwfoundation@willowwoodfoundation.com. Thank you for your help!
