A Message from Rob Diemar, President, the Willowwood Foundation....

Dear Friends,

If you have visited Willowwood Arboretum before, you already know what a special place it is. If you haven't, you are missing out on experiencing a truly magical place that is right in many of our back yards. Tucked away in the southeast corner of Chester, NJ, on 130 acres of rolling farm land, Willowwood is home to more than 2,100 different native and exotic plants. It hosts formal gardens and undisturbed forest. Historic collections include oak, maple, willow, magnolia, lilac, cherry, fir, pine, a superb specimen of Dawn Redwood (Metasequoia) now more than 98' tall, masses of ferns and handsome stands of field and forest wild flowers. Maintained by the Morris County Park Commission and supported by the Willowwood Foundation, the arboretum is open to the public seven days a week from 8 am to Dusk.

Willowwood's genesis dates back to 1908 when two brothers used a small legacy to acquire a country home near Gladstone, New Jersey. The two brothers, Henry and Robert Tubbs, and Henry's adopted son, Dr. Benjamin Blackburn, developed this country place into the Willowwood Arboretum, New Jersey's most comprehensive and longest continually operating Arboretum. Since 1980 under the stewardship and management of the Morris County Park Commission, the Willowwood Foundation with the support and hard work of countless donors and volunteers have made it possible for the public to enjoy this beautiful green space of gardens and meadows.

Please consider a donation to The Willowwood Foundation this year to continue the work started by the Tubbs brothers over 100 years ago. To date, contributions to the Foundation have funded internships, important projects and garden restorations at Willowwood. The Foundation works closely with Morris County Park Commission to make sure that our resources are deployed as effectively as possible.

Spring is right around the corner and is always one of the most beautiful times of year at Willowwood. I hope you have the opportunity to visit the Arboretum and take in its beauty. It's a truly special place that is there for everyone to enjoy.

Thank you for your continuing support.

Rob

announced: Photographers—get your cameras ready! After the successful Daffodil and Magnolia Photo Contests, the Willowwood Foundation has planned a third contest on Willowwood's Cherries.

Generally in bloom at Willowwood in April (dependent, of course, on Mother Nature), your photos of Willowwood's cherries will qualify for contest entry and prize in 2014. Rules: All Magnolia photos must be taken at WW. Photos from the past or this year will qualify. Submit jpegs via email. Questions? More Information? Email: wwfoundation@willowwoodfoundation.com or visit willowwoodarboretum.org.

Morris Arboretum of the U of Pennsylvania donated Ornamental Cherry plantings to Willowwood and Frelinghuysen Arboretum:

Tony Aiello, Director of Horticulture and Curator, arranged the donation of 7 ornamental cherry cultivars to help diversify the MCPC collections which provide beautiful Springtime display.

Specimens included were Prunus "Ariake", 'Dream Catcher' 'Helen Taft', 'Hi-zakura' ('Ichiyo'), 'Scott Early', 'Shirotae' and 'Taki-Nioi' from the Morris Arboretum's collection.

Blooms may not be visible for a few years, but we are very grateful for this wonderful gift of Spring color!

Thank you! Many friends of Willowwood made generous donations in the last six months to help fund the Tubbs' & Blackburn horticultural legacy and to insure that this wonderful place survives for future generations. We can only say "Thank you" for your help...

Like Pretty Posies?

Wanna Play in the Dirt?

Enthusiastic amateurs and friendly master gardeners play, learn and work together in three short messy and magical hours in Willowwood or Bamboo Brook's beautiful gardens. Dedicated teams and nimble fingers are urgently needed to help maintain the eye appealing gardens.

This hands on program - Garden-Works - teaches volunteers at the gardens one weekday morning to assist our horticulture staff.

Call Kate Gutierrez, Horticulture Volunteer Program Specialist at 973.326.7629 or email Kate at kgutierrez@morrisparks.net, for more information and schedule.

Hellebores at Willowwood:

Hopefully, when you receive this issue of the Willowwood Journal, the snow has disappeared and you are ready for your first “sunny day” walk through Willowwood’s gardens.

The daffodils and crocus will be bright and colorful and fill the fields but perhaps even before their bloom, on a fine and tempting day, you may find nestled around the Tubbs House, in the Rockery (watch for a white Helleborus niger) and the Cottage Garden those wonderful harbingers of Spring—the Hellebores or as many know them—“Lenten Rose”. One of the earliest in the gardens, right around the start of Lent, these dramatic perennials may be unfamiliar to some, but gardeners love this shade loving plant that offers “Deer Proof” evergreen foliage and flowers that range from pale white to pink to soft green or variegated to, in the newer varieties, vibrantly colored double flowers.

The charms of these plants are hard to resist with their delicate looking, downward facing blossoms. They thrive in woodland settings and yet will take some sun during the summer if oft watered with good drainage. They grow slowly and make take several seasons before they are really showy. But anyone who despairs of winter will greet these lovely plantings at the first sign of Spring.

And...

Before you see the winter aconite in the Rockery or by the small stone cottage the yellow Jasmine nudiflorum (Winter Jasmine), you can still enjoy the Ornamental Walk opposite the Stone Barn and continuing to the left. The trees and plants have interesting fruit, bark or branching habits during the Winter and if you haven’t really looked as yet, take a quick peak now before they begin their Spring growth.

And while you are walking around, peak through the glass windows of the green house to see the spring pansies grown and potted by the garden volunteers, starting to be in full bloom – it’s too early to plant them outside – or drop by the Conservatory attached to the Tubbs House—there is always a riot of color and scent that awaits you from the tropical plants in full bloom. The Conservatory is open weekdays 8 am to 3 pm. Check out the Moravian tiles on the walls too.

If you would like Willowwood bloom updates, send an email to contactus@willowwoodarboretum.org and a short email will be sent every so often so you don't miss any of our Spring blossoms.

Openings for Seasonal Gardeners and Interns at Willowwood and Frelinghuysen Arboreta

Seasonal gardener positions for those with experience in horticulture or gardening are available now at the Arboreta for the 2014 growing season. Gardeners participate in all aspects of garden and arboretum management including but not limited to, planting, mulching, watering, weeding, pruning, fertilizing, mowing, propagating, and record keeping. Gardeners rotate through the different specialty gardens and collections and may select an area of concentration.

Internship Program: Each year the Willowwood Foundation helps an individual(s) obtain practical hands on gardening experience by funding an internship at WW. The program begins early spring through late fall and may run for three to eight months. Paid Interns (full- or part-time) are admitted on an as needed basis.

In 2013 an internship was awarded to Amanda Connelly, a Horticultural student at the County College of Morris, and to Bronwyn Harris, a Ecology, Evolution and Natural Resources student at Rutgers.

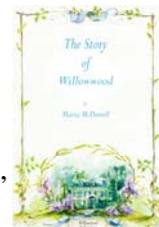

All Applicants must possess a keen interest in horticulture and enjoy working outdoors.

To learn more about each program, or if interested, send resume to Kate Gutierrez at
